MASS INTENTIONS

“This report about him spread through the whole of Judea and in all the surrounding region.”

Jesus worked miracles and the people of his age spread the news of these miracles everywhere they went. It is easy to understand that in the day of Jesus (and even now) when the dead are raised back to life that news of this miraculous event would spread like wildfire. But what about those miracles which are not so huge in their scale. Those miracles can include: Relationships healed with forgiveness, way of life made possible by charity and love, Faith shared and grown in a troubled world. All these are signs of God’s grace, alive and active in the world today. Do we then share what we have seen and experienced? I know for me that I am a bit of a private person and don’t want to impose my life and experience on others. But I cannot hide the good that God has done for me. In the past few years I have expressed these experiences of grace every time the opportunity presents itself by speaking of that grace and then saying either “Praise God!” (season of Lent) or “Praise God, Hallelujah.” Let us not be stingy in sharing what God has done for us, but with Joy tell the whole world what God has done for those who trust in him.
